

The illuminated ice bucket shared branding with the housed bottle of Finlandia vodka.

Theresa Roberts' husband Andrew (left) greeted House of Issa Deputy Chairman and Issa Foundation Chairman Paul Issa amid cocktails.

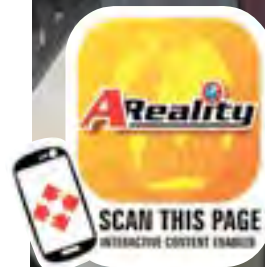

The evening's host Theresa Roberts (second right) with Saint International CEO Deiwght Peters and his models (from left) Tami Williams, Kai Newman, and Naki Depass.

CARE TO DANCE?

Dubbed the Colombian Billy Elliott, choreographer and dancer Fernando Montaña - soloist at The Royal Ballet - and his The Washington Ballet contemporaries Venus Villa, Ashley Murphy, Nardia Boodoo, and Corey Landolt were flown in via the second city as the treat yourself experience of Jamaica Patty Company co-principal Theresa Roberts, looking to vivify her September 1 birthday countdown with international flair. This takes us to last Wednesday evening, where the gowned and the tuxed boarded shuttles, which taxied them to Roberts' gleaming

The Tryall Club property, Hanover Grange, for an evening of classical ballet, that showcased the genre to comprehensive effect, through a mixture of solo variations and pas de deux, under the banner Swan Lake. As The Royal Ballet's Montaña and The Washington Ballet quartet leaped and spun to the delight of their audience, Caribbean Producers Jamaica added further comforts with a robust canapé menu and bar service. SO now presents the series of events which left Western Jamaica sufficiently inspired and assured that the world was, indeed, its oyster!

Branded stems of vino were highlights of the Caribbean Producers Jamaica bar service.

Finlandia vodka and Jack Daniel's Tennessee Whiskey were the featured spirits at the Caribbean Producers Jamaica watering holes.

Rosh Marketing frontman Roshan Ramchandani (right) with Hospiten General Manager Sergio Gonzalez and his wife Milena Jeziorska, office administrator at Blue Vision.

From left: Miss Jamaica World franchise holder Laura Butler, Xerox Information Technology Manager Douglas Williamson and his Couples Resorts Human Resources Director Petra-Ann Williamson, and interior designer Kathryn May

Cardiologist Dr. Claudine Lewis

Painter and mixed-media artist Phillip Thomas and Jamaica Observer Senior Associate Editor, Lifestyle & Social Content Novia McDonald-Whyte

Royalton White Sands Group & Meetings Manager Stayce Ingram and Deja All-Inclusive Resort General Manager Robin Russell

Jamaque Paradis Editor-In-Chief Peter Williams and philanthropist Theresa Roberts

Canadian-based marketing executive Michelle Bailey (left) and Caribbean VIP director Amoi Leon-Issa (Photos: Antonio Graham)