Evening up to Ivana

PULL OUT

Ivana Trump makes a statement even in the hush-hush elegance of Hanover Grange at Tryall, one of The Rock's coolest hideaways. The one-time Olympic athlete, model, socialite and First Wife of The Donald is in a jovial mood. It's her birthday today, Sunday, February 20, and she's spending it in Jamaica with her BFFs, art enthusiast Theresa Roberts and society fixer and TV personality Liz Brewer. There is, too, former middleweight World Champion Chris Eubank. The music of the sixties has everyone in an upbeat mood, with Millie Small's My Boy Lollipop upping the ante.

Dressed in a form-fitting red Dior cocktail dress with muted silver shoes and wearing her own pieces of Swarovski crystal jewellery from the House of Ivana, the woman who raised eyebrows when she unapologetically declared, "Come on, girls... don't get mad. Get everything," is still unapologetic as she repeats the phrase for SO and sits upright on the arm of a sofa, her back perfectly arched, leg wrapped around ankle, to commence our brief chat.

Her three children, Donald John Jr, Ivanka Marie and Eric, as well as the grandchildren, have all called to wish her birthday greetings. So, too, has The Donald. "We speak regularly," shares Ivana. "We have an excellent relationship."

The first of Donald's wives, Ivana is, without a doubt, the one we'll always remember. A deliberate ploy, some might argue. But Ivana is pretty matter-of-fact: "You either have it all, or you don't... I've always worked and keep current by reading the papers and magazines," she informs.

Indeed she has, and the paparazzi are still fascinated. Ivana has just wrapped a James Bond shoot with Hello magazine (some 30 images, plus a pretty scary scene snapped hanging out of a helicopter). There's a recent article with People magazine, business trips to Paris and London, with Palm Beach on the itinerary, as well as New York. There are her shopping channels, her global real estate companies like The Ivana Great Barrier Reef Resort in Australia, which will be the ultimate luxury resort for world-class travellers in search of a home Down Under. And yes, the reality TV show, Ivana Young Man, slated for the Oxygen Network come Spring. It's a blistering schedule even for the woman who once told Hello magazine that "a woman is like a tea bag... you never know how strong she is until she gets into hot water".

"I do quite a few speaking engagements, as well as make appearances for several charities... right now I'm here enjoying a long weekend in Jamaica. I went to the Sugar Cane Ball last night and am relaxed today enjoying your delicious fruits, especially the papaya, watermelon and naseberries - absolutely delicious! It's time for dinner now and I know Theresa has a cake with candles."

Indeed, she does. It's a Hanover Grange rum cake, but before that there's traditional Sunday dinner with all the trimmings. Ivana enjoys a taste of everything from callaloo to pak choy, rice and peas, jerk chicken, jerk pork and shrimp in garlic butter.

Ivana Trump left Jamaica last Wednesday morning, refreshed and all set once again to take on New York. Undoubtedly her credo remains ... "Don't get mad, get everything!"
